NEW ENTERPRISE LAUNCHED

Eskew Brothers Open Branch Establishment.

No one who knows the Eskew Bros., will be surprised to learn that they have bought the Stembbridge wagon works and machine shops on Belleville street recently operated by A. J. Stembbridge, who relinquished it only because of a lack of capital to operate it successfully. The Eskew Bros., who are noted for their thrift, industry and enterprise will put the new branch under the charge of L. J. Randolph as foreman and Myron Frisbie as Master Mechanic, steel workman wagon builder and carriage maker. This certainly insures the patrons of this shop with work of the highest class and they can depend on finding here also a horse-shoer of national reputation.

The wagon manufacturing will be pushed. Their is room for it here. Marion above all things needs factories. The great Studebaker began his career in a much less pretentious shop and now their products are sold in all parts of the civilized world and it is truthfully stated that the sun never sets on the British Empire or the Studebaker wagons. Give Eskew Bros. the home support they deserve and they will surprise you in a short time with their new wagon works and machine shop.

Shipped Saturday.

Clement & Moore shipped Saturday a car load of extra super cattle which they obtained of Elmer Gahagan and Marion Brantley down in the Belles Mines section, near the Union county line. They were beauties and looked as if they had been kept housed, blanketed and rubbed to make them slick and fat. The boys evidently had been 'puttin' the corn to 'em,' as one bystander remarked. Such cattle will soon raise old Crittenden up to the "Blue Grass" standard in the stock markets.

McConnell—Young.

The Clarksville Leaf-Chronicle says: "Richard A. McConnell and Miss Gussie Young, a couple from Hopkinsville, Ky., were married at the Methodist parsonage by Rev. J. J. Stowe, late Thursday afternoon.

The bride has been in Clarksville several days the guest of Mrs. W. H. Meacham. Mr. McConnell came over Thursday on the 4:55 train and the marriage took place a few minutes later."

Mrs. McConnell is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Young and the groom is an employe of the I. C. Railroad. Rich McConnell is one of our boys and we are glad to hear of his good fortune.

A Card of Thanks.

We desire through the columns of the Record-Press, to thank our many friends for their kindness to us during the sickness of our wife and mother, Mrs. Frances Gass, for which we can not find words to express our thanks for all your many acts of kindness and also to Dr. Perry whom we believe done all in his power to bring about her recovery. May Heavens richest blessings rest on each and every one of you.

Rev. Yates in Illinois

Pleasant and Popular as Usual

The special revival services began at the Methodist church last Sunday. They will be under the supervision of the pastor, Rev. Modlin.

Prof. W. B. Yates who will have charge of the singing throughout the series arrived last Saturday and was in charge Sunday. In the evening he preached to a large congregation. The people are wonderfully taken with Mr. Yates' singing and his manner of conducting the congregational singing. As a soloist he can scarcely be beat, and as good singing conduces to the interest of any meeting, it is expected Mr. Yates will fill an important place in the meeting. He is always doing the unexpected thing which adds interest and spice to the services. Monday night he landed on three of the prominent members of the congregation and requested a trio, and behold Frank Edwards, Jim Green and Ed McDonald rose up and warbled a chorus of a song much to the edification of the hearers.

Miss Bertie Crow arrived Monday evening, but too late to preach and Mr. Yates again preached. She preached Tuesday evening however and will hence forward do the preaching each evening. Bertie Crow is a great favorite with our people and she is greeted each evening by a large and appreciative congregation.

Day services are held at 2:30 each day and are well attended. The church people of all denominations are taking active part in the various services.—The Montgomery Democrat, Coffey, Ill.

J. J. Hughes Stricken

With Paralysis.

Last week J. J. Hughes, who lives on the Piney road on the hill just out of town, was stricken for the second time with partial paralysis, his whole left side being affected. His family and friends were much alarmed and those abroad were notified at once of his critical condition. However he has wonderful vitality and has rallied and is now considered much improved, and a strong hope is entertained that he may recover.

He is one of our best citizens and is widely known and highly respected and we join with his hosts of friends and relatives in the hope that he may yet be spared for many years.

HUNGARIAN BARON

WORKS IN MILL IN EAST

Nephew of Prime Minister Learning About the Worst Industry.

Lawrence, Mass., Jan. 29.—That he may learn the details of mill construction and the methods of the manufacture of worsted for the benefit of his country, Baron Kuno Von Eltz, nephew of the Prime Minister of Hungary, daily puts in nine hours of hard labor in the new Uswock mill of the United States Worsted Company.

Baron Eltz makes out daily reports for his government on the progress of his work, and when he returns to Hungary he expects to superintend the construction of factories for worsted manufacturing.

The Hungarian nobleman, who is 32 years old, occupies the room at the Phillips Inn, in Andover, in which the Rev. Dr. Samuel Smith wrote "America."

Bandit Walk Into Hornet's Nest.

Pueblo, Col., Jan. 28.—A bandit, who gave the name of Al Buckley, tonight held up and robbed the passengers on the Denver and Rio Grande train shortly after leaving this city, and in a pistol fight with Special Agent McCafferty, was wounded and surrendered.

All money and valuables were returned to the passengers. McCafferty happened to be on the train and shot Buckley just as he was about to make his escape.

Fire at Carnahan Bros.

Narrow Escape of Mammoth Stock.

The Fire alarm was turned in Tuesday morning about seven o'clock and several bells rung when it was announced that Carnahan Bros. mammoth establishment, on corner of Main and Salem street, opposite the Court House in the Opera House square was on fire, crowds rushed to the scene and soon discovered the counter and a stack of clothing near the stove on fire and blazing fiercely, and had not willing hands taken prompt action the store would soon have been a mass of flames inside. As it was the flames were soon drowned out with but slight loss to stock from fire and water. Had the fire gotten five minutes start it would have been impossible to save the north side of the public square.

MRS. J. H. CLARK DIES AT PRINCETON, IND.

Her Remains Were Brought Here For Burial.

Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock, the remains of Mrs. Mollie V. Johnson, wife of Dr. J. H. Clark, of Princeton, Ind., arrived here for interment in the new cemetery. Mrs. Clark removed from this city in 1898 with her husband, who located at Princeton, Ind. The family lived at Shady Grove before living here and have numerous relatives and friends in the city and county. Mrs. Clark was born at Springfield, Tenn., Nov. 3rd, 1844. She married Dr. Clark in 1894. She is survived by three brothers, Jas. Johnson, of Tennessee; Anderson Johnson, of Oklahoma; and Henry Johnson, of California.

Dr. Clark's first wife, the mother of his children, was her only sister, and her loyalty and devotion to them, won his heart and their's, and they now grieve with him in the loss of their best friend.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon from the residence of Mrs. N. M. Clark, and was conducted by Rev. W. T. Oakley and interment at the new cemetery. The floral offerings were profuse and beautiful and the new made mound was completely covered with these tokens of love and affection.

FLIES 96 MILES

ALIGHTS IN SEA

Accident to Engine Forces Aviator's Descent. Rescued by Ships Ten Miles from Goal.

Havana, Jan. 30.—J. A. D. McCurdy, Canadian by birth, but now affiliated with American aviators, made a new record today in over-the-water flights, covering a distance of close to a hundred miles, from Key West to within ten miles of Havana, when, from slight accident, he was compelled to drop into the sea. There he remained, his biplanes floated by pontoons until the lifeboat of the torpedo boat destroyer Terry picked him up.

With victory within his grasp, his goal in plain view, an accident, trivial in itself, for which no provision was possible, robbed McCurdy of his almost won title of conqueror of the Florida Straits. With Morro Castle scarce a dozen miles away, his aeroplane rushing at the rate of fifty miles an hour at an altitude of 1,000 feet, a break in a small part of the engine, a ruptured crank case, permitting of the escape of all the lubricating oil, necessitated McCurdy's immediate descent. Havana was then in plain view and Camp Columbia, where the landing was to be made, was only a short distance beyond.

THE TOBACCO SITUATION SUMMED UP

I never was, in all my life now or before, at present or at this time as tired of hearing or having to listen to, all this gol-darn discussin' over tobacco, tobacco, tobacco. Tobacco this, tobacco that, give me a chaw tobacco, or have ye the "makins," kiddo? Then it's the Commonwealth, the the longes-verdus, the filthy nasty, the pod-wod, the dog-bed the money-getter, White Burley, Green River, Dark Patch, American Society of Equity, dumper, pool it, sign it up, graft, bamboose, bumfuddle, muckrake, arbitrate, soft jobs, snaps, puddins, cinches, easy picken', expenses will eat it up, warehouse commissions, somebody's gitten' rich out of this, Mizzy and Platte county, extended territory $1.00 per thousand pounds for securing a pledge, fightin, and scratchin, cussin, and fussin, slamin, and damin', rootin'-tootin', hootin', shootin, why don't they do this, why don't they do that? Division of spoils, when are they going to have a divide, speculating in receipts, and so and so and so on and so forth, et cet-e-ra, BING, BANG, BOOM! ta-ra Boom, te-a, and 400 million carloads of Wa-hoo that counts for naught and enough to drive any sane personage to a Battle "Crick" bug-house.—T-CAT-O.

Letter From L. T. Love.

Cartersville, Ill., Jan. 30, 1911. Mr. S. M. Jenkins.

Marion, Kentucky.
Dear Mr. Jenkins:—
Enclosed you will find $1.00 money order for which please send me the dear old Record-Press for 1911. We couldn't get along without the dear old Press as it is a welcome weekly visitor at our home. I have been reading it every since I could read anything. I am certainly glad you have taken charge of the Press again, it is so newsy now.
Yours Truly,
Linford T. Love.

In Memory of Mrs. Wm. Fowler.

Mrs. Mary Salina Fowler was born January 9th, 1848, died June 30th, 1910. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Jackson Hill, now deceased. She was the mother of two sons, Robert G. and Jas. A. Fowler, who survive her. She for many years had been a great sufferer from a catarrhal cough, which at last claimed her as its victim.

Owing to continual ill health she was rarely absent from home, even to attend church, yet, regardless of all she led a quiet Christian life and had, previous to her death confessed, to friends, her readiness to answer at any time to her Master's call. She fondly cherished the Bible, Sabbath Reading and other instructive literature, which at all times she kept in her home. She was ever pleased in doing deeds of love and kindness for her children, little grand children and friends. While we miss her from her home, yet, we feel that it would be wrong to wish her life of suffering on earth longer.

We laid her remains to rest by her deceased parents in the Chapel Hill cemetery to await "The Sounding of the Trumpet on the Resurrection Morn, when the Dead in Christ shall rise." A Daughter-in-Law,

KITTIE FOWLER.

Wouldn't Show Her Leg to

Twelve Men For $2,000.

St. Louis, Jan. 27.—When Mrs. Mrs. Minnie Dillman, wife of Frank K. Dillman, a druggist was asked to show her leg to the jury as an exhibit in her case for damages against the East St. Louis Railway Company in Judge Millard's court, East St. Louis, she declined and then fainted. She was revived and taken to her home.

The request that she bare her limb was made by James Farmer attorney for the railway company. Mrs. Dillman said the plan proposed would embarrass her. Mrs. Dillman alleges a State-street car in which she was riding jumped or was thrown from the track, and that she received an injury which disabled her. She asked $2,000.

"No Friend Like the Old Friend."

Mt. Vernon, Ind., Jan. 28, 1911. Dear Marshall:

I am only sending you check for $1.00 for the Press this time. As long as you or any of the home boys edit the Press, I will continue to send one every year, for when I am reading it, I feel that I have a message from "home." But I must say when it falls into the hands of strangers it does not have the same "kind of reading." With best wishes for yourself and kindest regards to your family.

I am ever your friend,
Robt. V. Stinson.

OBITUARY

Mr. Robert C. Hearell was born February 14th., 1833. Died October 8th., 1910. Age 77 years 8 months and 6 days.

He was first married to Nancy Whitley. To this happy union six children were born, four girls and two boys.

He was afterward married to Nancy Wheeler.

He was a kind and gentle father and a happy christian. He professed faith in Christ at the age of fifteen years and joined the G. B. church. He was ever ready and willing to do something for our Savior. To know him was to love him, he was kind and loving to all and had a kind word for every body.

At the time of his death a revival meeting was being carried on at New Union church, he had been attending very regular until on Friday night by some cause he stayed at home, feeling as well as usual, he went to bed and slept very soundly until about ten o'clock, when he was awakened with a smothering spell, and at twelve thirty he fell asleep to awake no more in this world but in the next, where there is no sickness, sorrow, parting nor death, but where all is peace and joy.

His body was laid to rest in the Deer Creek cemetery, Sunday afternoon to await the call of the Lord on the great resurrection morning.

The funeral service was conducted by Bro. Bunch in the presence of a very large audience of sorrowing friends.

Oh! how we miss our dear father and grandfather. Our home is left vacant and no one can fill his place, but our Savior is ever ready to help us bear our troubles and to wipe away our tears.

He leaves a wife, five children twenty-six grand children, five great grand children and one brother to mourn his loss.

The children are as follows:— Mrs. Sarah Wade of Metropolis, Ill., Mrs. Catherine Roach of Denver, Tenn., Mr. Davey Hearell of near Irma, Ky., and Mrs. Nina Hardesty of Hardesty Ky., and his brother Mr. Ike Hearell of Joppa, Ill.

A precious one from us is gone, A voice we loved is still, A place is vacant in our home, Which never can be filled, God in his wisdom has recalled, The boon his love hath given, And though the body moulders here,

The soul is safe in heaven. His grand-daughter,

Pearl Hardesty.

HOME ENDORSEMENT

Hundreds of Marion Citizens Can Tell You All About It.

Home endorsement, the public expression of Marion people, should be evidence beyond dispute for every Marion reader. Surely the experience of friends and neighbors, cheerfully given by them, will carry more weight than the utterance of strangers residing in faraway places. Read the following:

William Redd, farmer, Marion, Ky., says: "I was subject to sharp twinges through my loins when I stooped or lifted and was also troubled by a pain in my back. At night I had an acute backache and when I arose in the morning, I was very lame. I tired easily, felt dull and languid and at times was nervous. The kidney secretions were too frequent in passage and I was obliged to arise from three to four times during the night. Learning of Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box at Haynes & Taylor's drug store and after using them about three days, I received such great relief that I continued taking them until I was cured."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

HABIT.

It is a great thing that we are able to form what we call habit, else we would be compelled to plod on with the awkward painstaking of our first imperfect efforts. Our hands would always be slow, uncertain and unskillful. There would be an everlasting apprenticeship and the world would be a perpetual school of raw recruits. All learning, which is but the forming of habit, would be at an end. Science would be a crude mystery and art would be at an end also. The beauty of fashion would be but a universal ugliness, and the deft ways of men would shrink back to their shapeless beginning and there remain forever. Progress would be an unmeaning word, and the great advance that has been gained by a division of life's pursuits would be lost, never to be gained any more. The novice would not watch to imitate the skill of the master, for all would be novices alike. Men might pursue different vocations but none would ever get beyond rude and unsightly beginnings.

As you look through that old copy book you used at school long years ago, you can see the growth of habit, and does it not make you rejoice that it is a law of your nature, and perfectly within your control, "to improve on all the efforts of the past, and this is habit?" "Practice makes perfect" is a trite old saying, but it is just what we mean when we say, "Habit gives proficiency." Habit makes its indelible impression on all we say or do, nor can we, even if we try, avoid this impression. You can not walk, or talk as a little child does. You once could but experience has put you beyond the power to ever do it again. The experienced carpenter can not take his saw or plane and handle either of them as he did the first time. The chips or shaving will tell of his experience, and he can not avoid it. We can no more go back into the peculiarities of our early efforts than we can retrace the years of the past, and it is only when we clearly understand the use, power and force of habit that we are prepared to understand the great importance of forming them correctly. The great difference between the character ability and lives of men is chiefly a difference of habits. The child that is controlled as it should be, taught to be industrious and truthful, to deal fairly with its fellows, to be respectful to those older than itself and in short, is trained up in the right way until maturity is settled in its ways and its customs of thought and action are fixed by years of experience. There is no reason why it should depart from them, any more than there is that you should depart from your settled ways of fifteen or twenty years. It is the subject of habit, as much so as you are, and will just as naturally follow its customs as you will follow yours. These are chords of mighty power and strength, stronger than fetters of brass. They are not precepts only but precepts practiced through a series of years. We have precepts and example, both good, but this is precept and example wrought into habit and demonstrated in life under the eye of the teacher. Here is the great future in childhood culture. It stops short of the true mark. Many teach very well and set a good example, but they do not enforce, they do not require an absolute performance.

If you know what is right, and expect in after life to walk accordingly thereto with ease and comfort to yourself, begin early to form the habit of doing it and it will become as a second nature to you, but if you form wrong habits, although you may change them, they will trouble you as long as you live. The great benefit of education is not so much the knowledge you gain as the habit of thinking correctly and rapidly. This habit well formed will soon enable you to acquire knowledge and to use it also. One man by force of memory can repeat all the contents of a college curriculum and is not a thinker, is in attainment but little above a chattering parrot. Another reasons his way along, thinking much as he goes. The first is reputed a scholar, but the second is the educated man. He is a habitual thinker, and will search for the nature and reason of things.

My young friend never trifle with the tender beginnings of an evil habit, for if you do it will bind you hand and foot when you think you are in not the least danger, and mock you in your weakness when you know you are not strong. Remember some habits are good and others are evil, and it is the same beautiful gate that shuts in heaven that shuts out hell. Set your feet in the right way and keep on and you will be stronger tomorrow than you are to-day and when old and feeble you will be glad you chose the right way.

Marion, Ky.,

Dear Sir:— We wish to join the innumerable hosts of Kentuckians in welcoming you back to your old post as managing editor of the Record-Press.

We also desire to say to our Kentucky friends who seem to be having some trouble in locating us that we are yet in Preston and will be likely to remain here, as we own a nice little home and Doctor enjoys a large lucrative practice, collections being about ninety-five per cent.

Our own health has improved so much that our old friends would think that time had turned backward for us or we had found Ponce de Leon's wonderful fountain, and it was in South West Missouri instead of Florida.

Eulis has grown to be a strong healthy boy.

Doctor sent you a check for $1.40 to pay arrears and subscription for another year. Wishing you and all our friends a prosperous year.

I remain, yours respectfully

Mrs. W. U. Hodges.

by a cure-defying stomach trouble that baffled doctors, and resisted all remedies he tried, John W. Modders, of Moddersville, Mich., seemed doomed. He had to sell his farm and give up work. His neighbors said, "he can't live much longer." Appeal Is Made to Uncle Sam.

Washington, Jan. 21.—The good offices of the United States Government are being sought by President Simon, of Haiti, to prevent war between that Republic and Santo Domingo. Henry W. Furniss, American minister to Haiti, has telegraphed the State Department that the Haitian President has expressed a desired that the United States interpose in a friendly endeavor to bring the contending parties together on a peaceful basis.

Haiti has offered a submit the territorial question to arbitration immediately, adds Mr. Furniss, provided both Governments with draw their troops from the frontier and that Santo Domingo suspend all construction work on the highway, which is being built over the territory in dispute, and which is the immediate cause of the controversy.

According to advices to the State Department, Haiti, refuses to consent to the further construction of the highway over what she claims as Haitian territory, and insist that all operations in this respects should be suspended until the boundary question has been definitely settled. Santo Domingo is building a road from Pedernaries to Jimani for the purpose of guarding the frontier against smugglers.

HARRY A. SOMMERS ON GOOD ROADS

Address Favoring Good Roads Delivered in Louisville

CARDINAL IDEA IS ADVANCED

Necessary Tax Would Not Be a Heavy One, Said Mr. Sommers, At Congress of Kentucky Good Roads Association.

One of the principal addresses at the congress of the Kentucky Good Roads association, held in Louisville last week, was made by Harry A. Sommers, of Elizabethtown, Ky. Mr. Sommers has given this subject much study and is an authority. His address in favor of the good roads movement was as follows:

"It is evident that in Kentucky we have done those things which we ought not to have done and left undone those things which we should have done. Between our political feuds, our blood feuds in the mountains and our tobacco feuds in Central and Western Kentucky we have repelled both capital and immigration from our borders.

"We have neglected the education of our children until illiteracy is a reproach to the state. We have left comparatively untouched the great wealth which the Creator stored in the bowels of our mountains. We have shipped out our splendid timber to be manufactured in other states, instead of manufacturing it at home. We have legislated against the railroads, those great pioneers of progress and development, instead of encouraging them to extend their lines. As a result of all this the census figures show that only three states in the Union have a smaller percentage of growth than Kentucky. Is it not time to turn over a new leaf just before the New Year and use to the full extent the great advantages which nature has laid at our feet and which opportunity has brought to our door?"

"In my humble opinion the first and greatest step for the material development of Kentucky was taken last fall at the good roads meeting when this congress was called and a committee appointed to draft a state aid bill for public highways to be submitted to it. It is not my purpose to discuss at this time in detail the value of good roads or the cost of bad ones. I merely wish to emphasize that bad roads are a heavier tax upon the people than any reasonable tax which may be levied to secure good roads. The bad roads of Kentucky cost the people more annually than all the state tax, the state school tax and the county taxes combined. A government statistician has estimated that the bad roads in the United States cost $12.50 per capita a year. If they only cost half that much in Kentucky the people are paying annually $12,000,000 to pull through the mud.

Bad Roads a Perpetual Tax.

"The cost of bad roads is a perpetual tax which can only be stopped by the building of good roads. Good roads not only stop the tax of bad roads, but they increase the value of the land more than the roads cost. They are great moral factors and like the railroads are great civilizers.

"The measure framed for your consideration was drafted by a committee consisting of Senator Joe S. Bosworth, of the mountains; Judge James P. Gregory, of Louisville; Mr. George F. Pickett, of the Bluegrass, and the speaker, from Southern Kentucky. It was framed without regard to any particular section of the state, but upon the broad plan of helping every part of Kentucky and the commonwealth as a whole. The committee endeavored to make it so plain and simple in a synopsis form that it could be susceptible of but one construction, the one the framers intended it should have.

"Kentucky is a unit. Outside the state a citizen is known only as a Kentuckian, whether he hails from the mountains, the Bluegrass or Western Kentucky. No man can rise to distinction in any part of this commonwealth that the luster of his name is not shed upon the whole state. No great crime can be committed in the most remote section that the shame of it does not fall upon Kentucky. We need to give force and effect to the motto of our state, 'United We Stand, Divided We Fall,' and everywhere, from the Big Sandy to the Mississippi, there should be a united and concerted effort to put Kentucky where she properly belongs, at the forefront of the States.

State Aid Not New.

"The question of state aid is no new thing. Over sixty millions have been appropriated by the various states in the union to aid in the construction of metal highways. Thirty-two states are aiding in various ways in the construction of roads. I have the last report of the federal highways department at Washington City, which shows that the various states are doing in this direction. Maryland has appropriated for this year $250,000, Massachusetts $500,000. New Jersey has spent $2,859,735, and has appropriated for 1910 $300,000. In this connection I would say that New Jersey is the pioneer state in granting aid, and as a result it shows double the increase of aid of any state on the Atlantic seaboard. New York has appropriated $14,000,000, and has set aside for this year $2,500,000. Pennsylvania, the second state in growth in the east, has appropriated $8,221,000, and for the year 1910 $1,000,000. Washington, which outgrew any of the Pacific states, has appropriated $620,000 for this year, and so on through a long list of states.

"Let me say that no state in the union has made material progress in road building, except those states which have granted financial aid, and that every state which has granted aid has made material progress. State aid is an absolute necessity to secure good roads. We will never have them in Kentucky without it. It means, at the first place, that the roads will be properly built. This has not been the case in Kentucky save with rare exceptions. It will not only stop the waste from incompetency, but it will also stop the graft which has been hinted at as existing in some counties.

"Kentucky, of all states in the union, should provide state aid, for the reason that no state has such a great difference in the wealth and poverty of our people. We have one county where assessable wealth is over $200,000,000, and a dozen where the assessment is less than $1,000,000. The principle of state aid has been recognized in Kentucky throughout its entire history. Our public school system rests upon it and without it half the counties could not maintain public schools. The state, instead of the counties, under our laws pays all the jury claims, witness' claims, pauper idiot claims, circuit judges' and commonwealth attorneys' salaries and many other things. It is so embodied in our laws that the state is the unit that it is almost fundamental.

Compared With School Tax.

"I do not believe that there is an intelligent man within the sound of my voice who would openly oppose the state school tax of 22½ cents on the $100 because his county paid into the state treasury more than it drew out. No man has ever advocated the repeal of that law. Any candidate for the legislature who would make the race upon the platform of the repeal of the school tax because his county did not get back as much as it paid in would be overwhelmingly defeated. Why? Because it is recognized as an absolute necessity for the rich counties of Kentucky to help to educate the children of the poor counties in order to maintain our public school system. Nearly half the counties in Kentucky are as helpless to build good roads without state aid as they would be to maintain public schools without state aid. Realizing the value which state aid has been to other states no one can object to it in Kentucky except upon the most selfish motives of paying in a little more into the state treasury than they can draw out, and I do not believe that Kentucky is going to be governed by that narrow spirit. Those few people who are crying out against the small tax of 5 cents on the $100 from selfishness are crying out before even their pocketbooks are hurt. We believe that the state supervision in the construction of roads would save in the rich counties more than the tax they pay, that in the end the increased prosperity of the poorer counties by the building of good roads would soon take many of them out of the pauper list, and that in ten years the state would be paid back a large interest on the money invested in roads by an increased valuation of property.

Two Per Cent Provision.

"There is a section of the synopsis of the bill to be discussed which is a section that has been overlooked by many. It is the section which provides that no county shall receive any year more than 2 per cent of the state fund. This state fund will be approximately $500,000, and 2 per cent of it will be $10,000. Any county receiving this maximum amount will be drawing out of the state treasury more than it pays in unless the assessed valuation of the county is $20,000,000 or more. In Kentucky we have less than ten counties where the property is valued at $20,000,000 or more, and these would be the only ones which would of necessity contribute more to the road fund than they could draw from it. All of these rich counties have large cities in them. These cities have been built up by the county, and it is nothing more than right and just that in turn they should help to build up the country, for the reason that in the end they would become beneficiaries.

"Allow me to refer to our public school system again. Under the provisions of the law a tax of 22½ cents is levied on all the property of the state and paid into the state treasury. It is disbursed according to the number of children in each county, and the county does not have to raise a single cent to get the benefit of this fund. The state aid to roads is on a much fairer proposition than this. It provides that not a dollar of the state money shall go to any county which does not cover it with either $1 or $2 of its own money, to be used in the construction of the roads according to its ability to pay. In other words, if the state puts up $500,000 a year to aid in road building, the counties will have to put up from $500,000 to $1,000,000. This means that in ten years there will be from 10,000 to 12,000 miles of good roads built in Kentucky according to the direction of a competent civil engineer and after the most approved methods of road building. This will do more to develop Kentucky and to enrich it than the same amount of money spent in any other way."

BREAKS UP COLD

Thousands Are Using The New Method With Wonderful Results.

Cut out this prescription Madam: you are the one that must look after the health of the household, and you are the one in these days of high prices that must manage things economically. Someone in the family may have a hard cold this winter; it may be in the head, perhaps in the chest.

It matters not where; here is some advice and a prescription that will break up any cold in a few hours, and without taking harmful drugs or strong drinks into the stomach.

First of all, look after the bowels. The tongue will show whether the liver is right or not. If the bowels need attention, a good dose of castor oil made tasteless with a little orange juice will do the trick, although any reliable cathartic will do.

Then try this economical treatment; into a bowl of boiling water pour a teaspoonful of HYOMEI (pronounce it High-o-mei) cover both head and bowl with a towel, and breathe deep into the lungs the soothing, healing vapor. Breathe this vapor for five or ten minutes until the head feels fine and clear, then go to bed and sleep soundly until morning.

A bottle of HYOMEI costs 50 cents at Haynes & Taylor and druggist every where. A complete outfit which includes a hard rubber pocket inhaler with which you can breathe it any time or place, costs only $1.00. It is guaranteed to cure catarrh, coughs, colds, sore throat and croup, or money back.

GIRL WEARING

PINK PAJAMAS

Refused to Leave Burning Hotel and Had to Be Recued by Force.

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 25.—Flames early yesterday routed from beds in Oneida Hotel a score or more guests, who were forced to flee into the street, wearing only the scantiest of apparel. The blaze attracted a big crowd, which was about to disperse, when from the smoking stairway appeared a young woman clad only in pink pajamas.

"Oh, I'll burn to death before I'll go out," she exclaimed. A big fireman rushed to the girl, wrapped her in a great coat and carried her to safety.

How to cure a cold is a question in which many are interested just now. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has won its great reputation and immense sale by its remarkable cure of colds. It can always be depended upon. For sale by all dealers.

Connaught to Succeed Grey. King's Uncle Becomes Governor General of Canada in Sept.

London, Jan. 29. —It is officially announced that the Duke of Connaught will succeed Earl Grey in September as Governor General of Canada. He will hold the appointment for two years, and that period may be extended. Various reports have been current from time to time, particularly from Canadian sources, that the Duke of Connaught would not be the next Governor General of Canada, although on the original announcement of his appointment, shortly after the death of King Edward, it was officially stated that it had been the wish of the King that the Duke of Connaught, his brother, should go to Canada as Governor General.

A late dispatch from London reported that the Duke would be appointed regent during the absence of King George in India for the coronation durbar. Such an appointment, it is believed, would serve to delay the Duke's replacing Earl Grey.

NOW CLOSED.

The revival meeting at the Cumberland Presbyterian church closed Friday night Feb. 27th, 1911, under the pastoral care of Woodruff, the preaching however was done principally by Bro. Eshman. Bro. Oakley preached the first sermon on Sunday night and Bro. Mather preached the following day, after which Bro. Eshman did all the preaching. The entire lot of sermons were of the best quality from first to last. The general results were not what we hoped for, but we are real glad for such an uplift to the churches and community, the christian sociability will be more appreciated here after we hope. While gatherings at the C. P. church are closed for this occasion, they all with one accord moved their forces over to the Baptist church and the warfare will be waged there for the next two weeks; may the Lord give victory there.

We want to thank the different denominations for their help and kindness in this effort especially Bro. Mather and his church for their noble kindness in giving us the use of their church on Sunday night so we could all worship together. The people who attended the meeting just closed by Bro. Eshman will long remember him for his close and earnest sermons, and here lest we forget he still lives in our hearts may the Lord bless him and may we see the fruits of his labor here many years hence.

I am not a member of the C. P. church but you would not know it if I had not told you.

Yours for the cause's sake, one who was present at every service except one and missed a lot by not being there to hear Bro. Mather. Last but not least the song services were held by Guthrie Travis, the next best. A friend.

Henry Watterson's recollections of "Twenty Presidents of the United States," which he contributes to The Youth's Companion of February 16th, are of no little historical value. Henry Watterson, the distinguished Kentuckian, has enjoyed the acquaintance of no less than twenty Presidents of the United States. He qualifies this by saying that his recollection of Andrew Jackson is shadowy, but he recalls dimly sitting on the aged man's knee, after his retirement to the Hermitage, and being dandled in his arms. These and other incidents in the lives of the Presidents are related in a delightful paper which Mr. Watterson contributes to The Youth's Companion of February 16th.

Birthday Party.

Master Reginald Williams Wilson celebrated his sixth birthday Saturday Jan. 28th, 1911. He asked only a few of his regular playmates, to spend the day and partake of the banquet. There were covers for six and those seated at the table were Miss Evalyn Roberts, Masters Edwin Henry, George Sayre of Oklahoma. Clifton and Vernon Randolph and it was a jolly party, each one of which seemed to enjoy the day the most and to do full justice to the delicious refreshments. Master Reginald was the recipient of many little tokens of friendship on this joyous occasion all of which were duly appreciated. The table decorations consisted of a miniature play ground walled off and equipped with the various things to interest children and a souvenir place card and vase of confections were given each guest.

Master Reginald was delighted with his "birthday" but not any more so than he was with the thought of "going to school." As he has attained his school majority he took his books and marched proudly to the school room Monday, leaving his mother in tears at the thought of giving up her little boy who felt as if he was rapidly becoming a real "big man."

Island Sinks Five Feet After

Volcanic Eruption In The Philippines

Manila, Jan. 30.—Observers sent out by the Bureau of Science to investigate the eruptions of the Volcano Taal have telegraphed in a report that a terrific eruption occurred at two o'clock in the morning simultaneously with two prolonged earthquakes. The island on which the volcano is located sank five feet. A heavy mud shower fell and then for half an hour hot ashes.

The observatory at Manila corroborated the report of the earthquake and adds that a remarkable electrical storm continued for two hours with deafening roar in the smoke and gas umbrella above the volcano. Lava and stones were belched 3000 feet.

The observatory here report a total of 332 shocks. The Southern railroad has not been damaged, but three inches of mud and ashes cover the track in places, which has held up traffic. The observatory authorities say that Manila is in no danger.

Poor Man's $17,500,000 Invention.

(New York Times.)

By the recent signing of a contract in San Francisco, George Gates, a struggling inventor of San Jose, Cal., will become a multimillionaire through the sale to a syndicate of eleven of the greatest railway systems of the United States of his patent rights to a concrete railroad tie which he has invented. The price to be paid for the new tie as reported by principals in the transaction, is $17,500,000.

The successful concrete tie is considered the greatest railway invention since the air brake. It is not a mass of solid concrete, as might be inferred, but consists of a patented composition of substances that afford extraordinary resiliency, and at the same time is as durable as the concrete used in a city skyscraper. The tie is re-enforced with thirty-six strands of barbed wire. It will spring one and three-fourths inches and come back to line. And a single machine will turn out the ties at the rate of 3,500 per day.

The deal became known locally through the deposit in escrow of $500,000 in the Crocker National Bank of this city. This deposit, Mr. Gates said, will be the first payment of a total of $17,500,000, which he will receive for the exclusive rights throughout the world for the concrete railroad tie and steel fastener which he has invented.

Railroad men everywhere were amazed at the results of the tests. The concrete ties proved cheaper than wooden ties. They gave a smoother roadbed; they were unaffected by heat or cold, and were impervious to rain. Besides this, they could not be destroyed by boring insects. They did not crack, peel or split. Indeed, they seemed indestructible.

Causes 95 Per cent of Diseases

Advice Concerning Stomach Troubles And How to Remedy Them.

Do not neglect indigestion which leads to all sorts of ills and complications. An eminent doctor once said that nine-five per cent of all the ills of the human body have their origin in a disordered stomach.

A physician who made a specialty of stomach troubles, particularly dyspepsia, after years of study perfected the formula from which Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are made.

Our experience with Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets leads us to believe them to be the greatest remedy known for the relief of acute indigestion and chronic dyspepsia.

Their ingredients are soothing and healing to the inflamed membranes of the stomach. They are rich in pepsin, one of the greatest digestive aids known to medicine. The relief they afford is almost immediate. Their use with persistency and regularity for a short time brings about a cessation of the pains caused by stomach disorders. Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets will insure healthy appetite, aid digestion and promote nutrition. As evidence of our sincere faith in Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, we ask you to try them at our risk. If they do not give you entire satisfaction, we will return you the money you paid us for them, without question or formality. They come in three sizes, prices 25c, 50c and $1.00. Remember you can obtain them only at our store, The Rexall Store.

The mirror was broken, perfume bottles, powder, puffs, rats, cold cream and rouge were scattered all over the room.

When Mrs. Young returned home she turned in a burglar alarm.—Shawneetown News Gleaner.

RURAL CARRIERS TO GET $1,000 SALARY

Increase of $100 a Year Voted By Congress—"Mail Service in H— of a Fix."

Washington, D. C., Jan. 26.—The House yesterday passed the postoffice appropriation bill carrying about $257,000,000 with no notes in the negative.

The postoffice committee of the House, the Postmaster General and "others higher up" including by inference the President of the United States came in for a scoring at the hands of members of the House during consideration of the bill.

The debate reached its height when Representative Sisson, of Mississippi, declared with vigor:

"This mail service all over the United States is in a hell of a fix, to use a strong expression and this House should fix the responsibility where it belongs. Some say it is the committee, some say it is the department and some say it is the President. The department has declined to spend the money appropriated for additional rural fee delivery routes and is going to turn back a surplus of $1,000,000 from this service. Forsooth, upon what hath these Caesars fed that they can thus defy the mandate of the House and Senate of the United States?"

The House passed with a whoop an amendment providing that after July 1, 1911, the rural carriers would receive a salary not exceeding $1,000 a year.

An attempt to substitute official postage stamp for the franks now used by members of Congress and Government departments was defeated.

"Please do not open until Christmas" will be permitted on mail matter in the future if the action of the House is sustained approving a provision allowing these extra words to be written on mail packages.

"Is this compliment to Santa Claus?" asked Representative Foster of Illinois.

"It is to relieve the congestion of the mail at Christmas time," replied Chairman Weeks. "We all try to have our packages arrive on Christmas eve, and if such a line could be written on packages many of them would be sent earlier."

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Peoria, Ill.—"I wish to let every one know what Lydia E. Pinkham's remedies have done for me. For two years I suffered. The doctors said I had tumors, and the only remedy was the surgeon's knife. My mother bought me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and today I am a healthy woman. For months I suffered from inflammation, and your Sanative Wash relieved me. Your Liver Pills have no equal as a cathartic. Any one wishing proof of what your medicines have done for me can get it from any druggist or by writing to me. You can use my testimonial in any way you wish, and I will be glad to answer letters."—Mrs. CHRISTINA REED, 105 Mound St., Peoria, Ill.

Another Operation Avoided. New Orleans, La.—"For years I suffered from severe female troubles. Finally I was confined to my bed and the doctor said an operation was necessary. I gave Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial first, and was saved from an operation."—Mrs. LILY PEYRON, 1111 Kerlerec St., New Orleans, La.

The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a remarkable remedy for those distressing feminine ills from which so many women suffer.

How to Tell if Your Hair is Diseased.

Even if you have a luxuriant head of hair you may want to know whether it is in a healthy condition or not. 85 per cent of the people need a hair tonic.

Pull a hair out of your head; if the bulb at the end of the root is white and shriveled, it proves that the hair is diseased, and requires prompt treatment if its loss would be avoided. If the bulb is pink and full, the hair is healthy.

We want every one whose hair requires treatment to try Rexall "93" Hair Tonic. We promise that it shall not cost anything if it does not give satisfactory results. It is designed to overcome dandruff, relieve scalp irritation, to stimulate the hair roots, tighten the hair already in the head, grow hair and cure baldness.

It is because of what Rexall "93" Hair Tonic has done and our sincere faith in its goodness that we want you to try it at our risk. Two sizes, 50c., and $1.00. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store. Haynes & Taylor, Marion, Ky.

Married Seven Times.

Owenton, Ky.,—What is probably the matrimonial record of Kentucky is held by Mrs. Benedict Reynolds, who becomes a bride for the seventh time when she, then Mrs. Cassie Kelley, was united in marriage to Benedict Reynolds here last week. The much married bride is 64 years old, while the groom is 55. His former wife died only last November.

Of Mrs. Reynolds' six former husbands three died and from three she was divorced. One of her husbands was her stepson.

What to Do.

If I should see a crimson cat
Slide up a crooked path
And spring upon a purple rat
Suspended from a lath,
My doctor would look wise and say:

My friend you have the habit!
Just take a little tip to-day
And eat no more Welsh rabbit!

And then perhaps a crocodile
May blink from overhead,
And baboon soldiers, single file
May march across the bed;
And if I wake the neighbors they Declare I'm only joking,
The doctor says: "I think you may

Cut out tobacco smoking!"
Perhaps some night across the wall

I see a red owl climb,
When chimney tops look ghastly tall

And bells of midnight chime.
I watch him till the east is gray,
And see his green eyes blinking.

And later on the doctor'll say:
Cut out that coffee drinking!

But should a grass-green elephant,
With jewels on his toes,

Or golden parrots rave and rant
Each time I try to doze,
I'd seek no doctor, that is sure;

I'd shun the flowing flagon,
And jump aboard to try once more

The good old water wagon.

FAMOUS PEOPLE

BY FANNIE M. LOTHROP

RUDYARD KIPLING
The Greatest Living English Author

A small man, tanned and bronzed to a clear light mahogany, squarely built, with broad shoulders, keen blue eyes, heavy straight eyebrows, a thick dark mustache and square resolute jaw, dressed in clothes that shout defiance to fashion plates—this is Rudyard Kipling. Active, alert, aggressive and intense, quick in movement, a bit cynical and quizzical, he at first suggests one thoroughly self-satisfied; one who is his own court of appeals.

At Bombay, the most cosmopolitan city of Asia, Kipling was born in Christmas week of 1865. His father was an Englishman, a professor of architectural sculpture in a Bombay college, and when Rudyard was six he was shipped back to England to be educated. At thirteen he entered the United Service College at Westward Ho, under the direction of old Indian officers. The atmosphere was military and Indian, and was doubtless a potent factor in coloring the mind of the boy, who acquired more by unconscious absorption than by direct study. It is true that he carried off the prizes in English literature in a matter-of-fact kind of a way, as if it were his assigned duty of the plunder; but otherwise revealed no symptoms of genius.

At seventeen he went to India to work on the "Civil and Military Gazette" at Lahore, where his talent began to be recognized in a half petronage. He was by the editor-in-chief, "Stranger" however, the "Plain Tales from the Hills" which gave him his first European success, and his "Departmental" which were accepted under protest, to humor the day, rather than for any merit the editors discovered.

A man of supreme individuality, he has the splendid courage of his convictions. He came to India in a boat when the Boer war seemed to him imperative, he counseled the country he loved for her treatment of her soldiers, while Alfred Austin, the Laureate, was writing pink-lemonade verses guaranteed to offend no one. Then came his magnificent "Recessional"—a new circle added to our literature.

Kipling is the apostle of the strenuous; he loves color and paints it with a brush that is blunted by struggle, by power, by conquest. He shows man with the primal instincts and passions, nature unvarnished. He is often blunt to beauty, tedious in the point of view, but always sincere, and always best when he lets the Oriental in his nature keep him close to the India he has realized to the world as no other English writer has ever done.

TRYSTING PLACE FOR LOVERS ONCE A ROBBERS DEN

Hopkinsville, K., Jan. 26.—Among the natural curiosities which abound in Kentucky none is more picturesque than Pilot Rock. Sixteen miles northeast of Hopkinsville, on the line separating the counties of Christian and Todd, it rears in rugged beauty its lofty head. From its summit on a clear day one can see the standpipe on waterworks hill and discern as a doll-house the main building of McLean College, while for miles and miles around spread a ravishing vision of sylvan loveliness.

Mute and majestic it rests up on an elevated plain, its base covering two acres of ground and towering upward an uneven pyramid it reaches a height of more than 200 feet. Its level top of half an acre is bare save for hardy shrubs and clinging moss.

Legend, history and romance cluster around the rocks with almost the luxuriance of the vines and vegetables, pigmy pines and cedars which garb its sides. Here, years ago, when Kentucky was in truth a dark and bloody hunting ground, the Indians camped, and relics of their habitation are plentiful in the form of stone arrows and utensils and crude instruments of work and warfare. In pioneer days the rock had its value as a landmark and, visible for miles around, it stood a Gargantuan guide for travel to the early settlers. There was a period of lawlessness in anti-bellum days, when bandits held sway terrorizing the people and Pilot Rock was a rendezvous of the robber bands. In later times moonshiners made frequent use of its clefts for playing the illegal trade. Now-a-days it is a mecca for sightseers and admirers of the beauties of nature and a magnet to all the picnic parties in the region. Sweethearts without number have plighted their troth as hand in hand they climbed its paths, and its exposed surface is a sli-gree of lovers monograms.

Scores of marriages have been solemnized upon its summit. And, alas! it furnishes inspiration for the muse and amateur poets galore, who soulfully sing "O, thou—Rock!" the blank being supplied with such adjectives as "mighty," "majestic," "noble," "storm-swept," and "eternal."

Pilot Rock was the scene of a once popular novel, "Lonz Powers," the author of which was James Weir, of Owenboro, who attended school in Christian county several years when a youth. He devotes many pages to its description, a short excerpt of which follows: "It stands forth boldly and proudly from a level plain, rearing its cedar crowned head all green and young and lovely, as if in the springtide of youth, although as old as the world itself, and shooting its rugged summit far above the loftiest trees several hundred feet beyond the level surface of the green valley stretching in every direction around it. It stands there as it has stood for thousands and thousands of years, for it was old when the Pyramids of Egypt were in their infancy, fearlessly undergoing the fierce, wild strife of winds and storms, uninjured, unworn and unshaken; and there it will continue, the wonder and amazement of puny man, until he who reared it as a slight monument of His omnipotent power, shall hurl this hitherto unshaken mass of nature's masonry from its massive foundation.

On the one side for miles and miles you behold the green waving carpet, formed by the tangled matted tops of the forest, dotted here and there with hill and dale; on the other you catch sight of a little river, shining and glittering through the waving leaves, and winding like an immense silvery serpent. Beyond this little river, dancing in the sunlight, you behold a beautiful mountain stream, springing and leaping through immense dizzy cliffs of gray limestone, decked with cedar and wild ivy, and at last, falling over a smooth, worn stone into the river below, forming a mimic cataract some thirty feet wide and near on to fifty feet high."

This novel, by the way, is one of the three-deck variety, but the author compassionately informs the gentle reader what pages of moral philosophy, abstract meditation and descriptive bits he may easily skip and still follow the narrative. Lonz Powers, the hero of the tale, was Alonzo Pennington, a famous freebooter who flourished in the early forties. Mr. Weir has him to kidnap a picnicking party of Hopkinsville belles and kept them captive in a cave under Pilot Rock. This incident is more interesting than true, in spite of its being often related as an actual achievement of Pennington's adventures career.

But Pennington in real life might have furnished material for a dozen novels. He was a stealer of slaves without a peer; his skill at circulating counterfeit money—made by an auxiliary band at Cave-in-Rock, Southern Illinois—was astonishing; no farmers were sure they owned horses unless they were astride the animals; and he was an adept at the gentle art of murder. Pennington was a son of Francis P. Pennington, a man of wealth and influence, who served the county for many years as High Sheriff. Alonzo was well educated, accomplished in many ways, attractive in appearance and dignified in bearing but he was a born rogue and "as mild a mannered man as ever scuttled a ship or cut a throat." Under his secret leadership, and with Pilot Rock as the base of operation, his robber band, by stealing horses and slaves, "showing the queer" and plundering upon the highway, made the countryside unsafe and property of doubtful value. The crime wave he set in motion had its culmination in 1854 with the murder of Simon Davis, whose body was robbed of $1500., and pitched in a so called Bottomless Pit in North Christian.

Then rose a band of regulators, virtuous night-riders—who took the law in their own hands and by lash and rope rid the county of suspicious characters. Pennington fled to Texas, where in the following year he was recognized by Col. James Bourland, a former citizen of Hopkinsville, who was making a speech as a candidate for congress. He hailed Pennington, who denied his identity, backed out of the audience and disappeared. He was tracked to Indian Territory and captured at a dance for which he was furnishing music with his fiddle. When he was returned to Hopkinsville a mob gathered to lynch him but was dissuaded by the eloquence of the Hon. James F. Buckner, later a prominent citizen of Louisville. He was promptly tried, sentenced to be hanged; and executed in Hopkinsville in the presence of thousands of people. Pilot Rock, his old haunt, and is no longer a robbers' den, although a revenue officer paid it a visit a few weeks ago, and besides enjoying the spectacle it afforded as a freak of nature, incidentally captured a moonshiner.

One of the marvels of the curiosity is gone. In spite of Mr. Weir's claim of its enduring stability, it has been shaken and mightily. At one time, on its pinnacle, there was a famous Balancing Rock, so perfectly poised that daring youngsters used it as a teeterboard. During the time of the Charleston earthquake a great fissure was made, and Balancing Rock toppled from its pedestal and thundered to its bottom. T. C. UNDERWOOD.

Free Sample Aids Old Men

The sudden change from years of activity of both body and mind to the quiet of later years causes the human system to undergo many changes, chief of which is in the digestive organs.

It becomes harder and harder to get the bowels to move promptly and regularly and in consequence many elderly men suffer not only from the basic trouble, constipation, but from indigestion, headache, belching, sour stomach, drowsiness after eating and similar annoyances. It is first of all necessary to keep the bowels open and then to tone the digestive muscles so as to get them to again do their work naturally. A violent cathartic or purgative is not only unwholesome but harmful, and something mild will do the work just as well.

After you have got through experimenting with pills and pills and waters of various kinds, and have become convinced that they do only temporary good at best, then try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, a mild, gentle, pleasant-tasting laxative tonic that is especially adapted to the requirements of old people, women and children, and yet is effective enough for anybody. Your druggist, who has handled it successfully for a quarter of a century, will sell you a bottle for fifty cents or one dollar, but if you want to make a test of it before spending any money send your name and address to Dr. Caldwell and he will gladly send you a sample bottle free of charge.

This remedy is rapidly displacing all other forms of medication for the cure of stomach, liver and bowel trouble, and families like Mr. O. P. Wisner's of Sycamore, Ill., and Mrs. Carrie Culler's of 225 N. Notre Dame street, South Bend, Ind., are now never without it in the house. They have tested it and know its grand value to every member of the family.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, R. 500 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

FAMOUS PEOPLE

BY FANNIE M. LOTHROP

MRS. JOHN A. LOGAN

The Life-Work of a Noble Woman.

The life of Mrs. John A. Logan, has been one of self-sacrifice, devotion, bravery and kindness, and she has endeared herself to the American people by her personal ally, her writings and her influence.

Born in Petersburg, Mo., in 1838, the eldest child in a family of thirteen, she early learned the cares and responsibilities of pioneer life. When she was a year old the family moved to Illinois, which was then only a territory, and it was here that her early years were spent with the exception of her school days at St. Vincent's Catholic academy at Morganfield, Ky.

When the Mexican war broke out her father was appointed Captain of a volunteer regiment and went to the front, and little Mary sent him her first letter, a childish scrawl. In his happiness he showed it to a young lieutenant in his regiment to whom he was greatly attached, and laughingly said: "You may have her." Years later the young lieutenant, John A. Logan, claimed of Captain Cunningham the fulfillment of his promise, though he was a rising lawyer of thirty when he was married and his young bride only seventeen.

As prosecuting attorney of the district, he won rapid recognition, and in 1858 was elected to Congress, and on his reelection two years later, Mrs. Logan spent her first winter in Washington, and scarcely had they returned home when word came of the fall of Fort Sumter, and General Logan was forced to hurry back to the Capital for the extra session then convened. The dark days of war that followed, proved the courage, patriotism and devotion of Mrs. Logan, who followed her husband to many a battle-field and endured, as thousands of other women did, without a murmur, the privations and dangers of camp life.

When peace dawned again on the Nation, General Logan was elected to Congress and later to the Senate, and in the social and political life of Washington, Mrs. Logan carried her honors with an ease, grace and force that made her famous. On the death of her husband in 1886, after rallying from the paralysis of her sorrow, she began her life-long work as editor of the "Home Magazine" in Washington, and in the intervals of her arduous work, and her newspaper writing has found time for much philanthropic and charitable work, uniting in concerted purpose the best heart and hand and hand can do for humanity. In 1904 she succeeded Miss Clara Barton as President of the Red Cross Society, a noble organization of consecrated service on the battle-field, and in all great national calamities and disasters, where the ministering hands of women can lighten the burden of suffering.

time for me write to the dear old Record-Press and renew my subscription again for another year. You will find enclosed check for one dollar. So keep sending the good old paper.

Everything looks good in New Mexico for it is snowing as hard as it can, for this is the first snow we have had since Oct. 20, 1910, and everybody would be glad to see a good snow or rain and then the farmers would go to work preparing for the next crop.

The crop season in parts of New Mexico, Texas and Okla., was a bumper, and other places not so good, what I would say, nearly nothing. But it so happened that we were in what has been called "prosperity" and the crops of all kinds were fine but the prices are low and can't get much out of what we have to sell at present.

We all like New Mexico fine and never expect to return to old Kentucky to live for the west is good enough for me. There is always something to do or some place to go seven days out of the week especially while the people have nothing to do till it rains or snows. Last week the people near here, all gathered to gather and chose a captain on each side and then proceeded to hunt jack rabbits which are plentiful and the side that killed the least number of rabbits was to give an oyster supper to the winners. And of course everyone had a happy and an enjoyable time, if they didn't, it certainly was their fault.

I will close for this time, and will try to write more next time, but before I close I will give the following lines to publish if you have the room for them in your valuable paper:

The ties of friendship are strongest
Out in New Mexico,
And seems to last the longest
Out in New Mexico,
The sun, it shines the brightest
And the corn, it grows the tallest,
And our burdens are the lightest,
Out in New Mexico.

The soil it goes the deepest
Out in New Mexico,
And fertile land be had the cheapest,
Out in New Mexico,
The farmer is the gladdest
While the "loafer" looks the saddest,
And the "hobo" gets the maddest,
Out in New Mexico.

The business men are the greatest,
Out in New Mexico
And their methods or the latest
Out in New Mexico
As to their needs they are well advised,
They have their business well advertised
But the grafter is most despised
Out in New Mexico.

The moral standard is the highest
Out in New Mexico
And lawbreakers are the shyest,
Out in New Mexico.
The man who thinks he's slickest,
Usually gets caught the quickest
And is made to feel the sickest,
Out in New Mexico.

They will treat you the squarest
Out in New Mexico,
And "dead-beats" are the rarest,
Out in New Mexico
Wives and sweethearts are the truest
And failures are the fewest,
But old bachelors looks the bluest,
Out in New Mexico.

We believe the Record-Press should give each week a market report. A great many of its readers have no other means of knowing the price of anything, as they take no other paper. What say you Mr. Editor? What say you, Mr. Editor?

Sometimes we select men to fill a high position on the church, state or business world without the ability to maintain it. If they had had, this inner virtue they could have reached the highest pinnacle of fame. The eagle can perch upon the loftiest crag, and there in safety plume his wings for bolder flights through fields, above clouds and storms, in regions all his own. The scaly lizard may wriggle his way up to the dizzy peak, but he is a lizard still. The wingless wretch dare not attempt that flight unto the vast beyond, nor can he long remain on his high perch, but must descend as he ascended, or else fall and lose his worthless life. Just so the man, whom chance has raised to a position beyond his fitting. He might have spent his days in quiet seclusion among his kind not to have been exposed. Unsuspected honors came, but they would not remain. A fool may assume kingly robes and a crown, but these only make him appear doubly a fool. Wiser and safer by far, is it to decline proffered honors than to secure them and not maintain them.

Mrs. Jordan Thurmon has partial paralysis of her right arm. She went to Fredonia Saturday to consult Dr. J. N. Bailey.

Pays Him to Stay Home.

A west side matron proudly exhibited the lock of her front door to the afternoon caller. It was an intricate looking affair, resembling a gum machine more than it did a door latch. "You turn this," explained the woman, pointing to a tiny knob inside the door, "and you have fixed the bolt so it can't be shot back with the key. To release the tumblers you've got to drop a coin in the slot outside. The only piece of money that will fit is a five dollar gold piece. The idea is my own. A locksmith downtown worked out the mechanical part of it for me. Every night at 10:30 I adjust the coin attachment. If my husband is out after that hour it costs him $5.00 to get in. He stays home evenings, as a rule."—New York Sun.
